JUNE 5TH

Beginning of the End (B&W) 1957

This 1957 independently made science fiction film was produced and directed by Bert I. Gordon. He loves everything BIG! The flick stars Peter Graves, Peggie Castle, and Morris Ankrum. Graves plays an agricultural scientist who successfully grows gigantic vegetables using radiation. The problem is, some grasshoppers chowed down on these crunchy treats and decided to take out most of the state of Illinois!

JUNE 12TH NEW!

The Mysterians (COLOR) 1957

Bird, Zelda and Theo present this Japanese science fiction classic rarely seen, directed by the great Ishirō Honda. The film begins with an investigation into how an entire village can be destroyed. Could it be a giant robot, who is then destroyed by the military? Seems like this robot was an alien! That means an alien race known as the Mysterians arrive, declaring they have taken some Earth women captive demanding that they have the right to marry them. Call the Justice of the Peace!

JUNE 19TH NEW!

First Spaceship on Venus (COLOR) 1960

Blast off with this international space age favorite! After finding an ancient, long-buried flight recorder that originally came from a spaceship launched from Venus, a human spaceship is dispatched there. The crew discovers a long-dead Venusian civilization that had constructed a device intended to destroy all life on Earth prior to invasion. What happened to their plan? This East German/Polish color science fiction film is based on the 1951 science fiction novel The Astronauts by Polish science fiction writer Stanisław Lem. It was directed by Kurt Maetzig and stars Günther Simon, Julius Ongewa and Yoko Tani.

JUNE 26TH NEW!

Cat Women On The Moon (B&W) 1953

Cats and chicks, our beatnik movie pals present this independent three-dimensional science-fiction treat, produced by Jack Rabin and Al Zimbalist, directed by Arthur Hilton, that stars Sonny Tufts, Victor Jory, and Marie Windsor. Seems some women in black tights have nothing better to do than hang out and lure astronauts, with music by the great Elmer Bernstein! Dig it!
